New Yorker Named Social Sciences Dean

Dr. Aubrey Bonnett, chairman of the Department of Sociology of Hunter College of the City University of New York, will be the new dean of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences, Vice President Robert C. Detweiler announced.

"I believe Dr. Bonnett will bring experienced, able leadership to the school, and I look forward to his arrival this coming fall," he said. "He will be joining an excellent school that has enjoyed first-rate leadership under Dean Tom Pierce."

Dr. Bonnett has a variety of administrative experience including a presidential administrative internship at Hunter, a faculty fellowship in academic administration at CUNY and two years as deputy executive officer of the Ph.D. program in sociology at CUNY. He has taught at Hunter since 1979 and became department chair in 1985. His background includes a variety of other honors and grants, consultancies and publications in professional journals. He reviews manuscripts for Random House and proposals for the National Science Foundation.

Bonnett earned his B.A. magna cum laude from Inter-American University of Puerto Rico, his M.A. from the University of Alberta, Canada and his Ph.D. from CUNY. All degrees were in sociology. In addition to his campus responsibilities, he also has worked with the Youth Services Agency for the city of New York and taught in the Physician Assistant Program at Harlem Hospital, CUNY. Bonnett is the first black graduate (in 1976) of the Ph.D. program in sociology at CUNY.

5 Candidates Coming For Dean Interviews

Five finalists for the dean of undergraduate studies will be on campus for interviews from May 18 through May 27, reports Dr. James Mulvihill (Geography), chair of the dean selection committee. The candidates, two women and three men, include three from UC campuses, one from another CSU institution and one from Georgia.

Open forums, at which the entire campus is invited to meet the candidates, will be held from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. in Student Union Rooms A-B. The finalists and their dates here are:

Monday, May 18: Dr. Joseph Johnson, dean of the School of Education at Columbus College in Columbus, GA., since 1982. He was head of the Department of Elementary Education at Montana State University, 1977-82. Earlier experience includes educational consultant, university teacher, public schools curriculum coordinator and elementary principal. He has authored or coauthored more than 50 articles for professional journals.

Thursday, May 21: Dr. Linda Perkins, currently visiting scholar at the Center for Afro-American Studies at UCLA and formerly assistant vice president of administration and secretary of the Council at The Claremont Colleges, assistant director and Fellow of the Mary Ingraham Bunting Institute at Radcliffe College, and director of affirmative action at William Paterson College of New Jersey. She also has taught, has published journal articles and reviews and is completing a book-length manuscript on black women's higher education.

Friday, May 22: Dr. Sidney A. Ribeau, chair of the Department of Pan African Studies and associate professor of communication studies at Cal State, Los Angeles. He also has been coordinator of the Title VII reading program at Urbana (Ill.) High School and adult education specialist for Urbana Adult Education Institute in Detroit. He has published, has received grants and has been a speech writer for Xerox Corporation.

Candidate Interviews

Tuesday, May 26: Dr. Adalberto Aguirre, Jr., assistant professor of sociology at UC Riverside and chair of the US-Mexico Research Program, 1982-87. At UCR he also has been chair of the Linguistics Program, assistant dean of undergraduate studies in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences and recipient of various research grants. Earlier he was director of Chicano Studies Program at the University of Wisconsin, Madison; and taught at the University of Wisconsin, Platteville, Angelo State University and Stanford. He has published articles in professional journals and chapters in books and has presented papers at conferences for 10 years.

Wednesday, May 27: Dr. Jacquelyn Mitchell, director of the Afro-American Studies Program and assistant professor of Afro-American Studies and Applied Behavioral Sciences at UC Davis. Earlier she was a lecturer in teacher education at UC San Diego and a teaching fellow at Harvard. She also was director of a Preschool/Day Care center in New York for six years. She has carried out research, published articles in professional journals and read papers at conferences.

Swim Coach Hired To Launch Aquatics

Former All-American swimmer Bruce Brown is being recruited from Stanford to develop Cal State's first intercollegiate swimming and water polo teams, Athletic Director Reg Price said. He is on the job, spending part of his time developing schedules and recruiting swimmers. Competition begins in September in men's water polo. Swimming and diving meets, for both men and women, will start in December.

For the past two years, Brown has been assistant men's and women's swimming coach at Stanford, where he helped develop the top men's team in NCAA Division I and the second-place women's team in the same division. As a coach, he also achieved other honors. His Whittier College swim team finished in the top 10 in the nation in 1980. The next year, his water polo squad captured the SCIAC conference title.

Brown won his own All-American honors in 1969 and 1973 at Occidental College, where he received his B.A. in sociology and psychology. He has an M.S. in kinesiology from UCLA. He has coached five years at Whittier and four years at Occidental, before going to Stanford.

Cal State Associates Re-elect Officers

Pam Dortch (Children's Center) heads the slate of Cal State Associates officers re-elected for the coming year. Serving with her will be Lorraine El-Ahraf, vice president, programs; Maria Lootens (Audio-Visual), vice president, membership; Susan Dyer (Foundation), treasurer; and Jan Moorefield (Chemistry-Physics), newsletter editor.

The Cal State Associates, open to all faculty and staff of the university, concluded the year's activities with an international potluck, featuring the foods of Indonesia. Authentic dishes were prepared by Indonesian students attending the university. The officers also were installed for their new terms at the meeting, held May 2 in the Commons.

During the past year, the Associates added $958 to its scholarship account in the Foundation with the proceeds of the holiday greeting card. The current market value of the Associates' account is $18,696. Actual contributions to the account total $13,307, Mrs. Dyer said. Two $400 scholarships were awarded this year from the interest income.

Forgivable Loans Available To Minorities For Doctorates

The Chancellor's Office is launching a three-year pilot program to increase the number of minorities and women with doctoral degrees in selected fields of study of particular interest and relevance to the CSU. The program will provide loans of $10,000 a year, maximum, for three years to help faculty in these groups complete their doctorates, explained Dr. J. C. Robinson (Academic Personnel).

The loans will be converted to grants when the recipients receive full-time faculty positions within the CSU. The entire loan will be forgiven after the recipient has taught full-time for five years on a CSU campus. The individuals who do not teach, or discontinue full-time studies, will be required to repay the total loan amount, at a low interest rate, within 15 years. Waivers may be made in exceptional cases.

Each loan recipient must have a sponsoring CSU faculty member and academic department. The sponsorship is intended to insure that the doctoral students will have reasonable prospects of securing faculty employment.

Emphasis in awarding loans will be on programs in which minorities and women are "severely underrepresented," such as life and physical sciences, math, statistics, computer science and engineering, explained Dr. Robinson. Fifty doctoral students will be accepted in the program. None will be added later and any who drop out will not be replaced.

Application forms are available in the school offices. They must be returned to the Academic Personnel Office, AD 109, by May 26, Dr. Robinson said. The Chancellor's Office will announce its selections by June 19.

Registration Begins Monday For June 20 Commencement

Graduates may begin registering Monday at the Alumni Affairs Office (AD 104) for participation in the university's June 20 commencement. After receiving forms confirming their eligibility to participate, candidates for graduation pay the $7.50 fee at the Bursar's window and then may order their caps and gowns at the Bookstore. The last day to register is Friday, June 12, said Joanna Roche, director of alumni affairs.

Students unable to register or pay their fees during the day may do so at the Evening Office, PL 107, between 5 and 8:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. First, however, they must call the Alumni Affairs Office to confirm their eligibility and arrange for a registration packet to be sent to the Evening Office.

Faculty members have been selected as the marshals to guide the academic procession. The faculty marshals will be Dr. Carl Wagoner (Criminal Justice), Dr. Michael Clarke (Public Administration) and Johnnie Ann Ralph (Library). Chosen as student marshals are Dr. Dorothy Mettee (Communication) and Dr. Kent Schofield (History). The university marshal will be Dr. Diane Halpern (Psychology, Undergraduate Studies). Dr. Peggy Atwell (Education), the 1987 outstanding professor for the campus, will carry the university mace.

Escape Trips Open To Faculty, Staff

The Associated Students invite faculty and staff to join them on the last two Escape trips of the year, said Joe Long (Recreational Sports). Tickets still are available for the May 22 trip to the California Angels-New York Yankees game. The $10 fee includes admission and bus transportation. Only 40 reservations can be accepted for the May 30 trip to Catalina. The cost of $21 per person includes bus and boat transportation from campus to Balboa and Avalon. Reservations should be made immediately at the Student Union, Ext. 7757.

Chamber Honors 3 Faculty Today

Three Cal State professors will be among the educators honored by the San Bernardino Area Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast this morning at San Bernardino Valley College. They are: Dr. Peggy Atwell (Education), Dr. Julius Kaplan (Art, Graduate Programs) and Dr. Helene Koon (English). Faculty from SBVC also will be recognized at the event, the fourth annual College Professors Honors Breakfast.

Dr. Atwell is the campus outstanding professor for 1987. A specialist in reading and psycholinguistics, she serves as chair of the Department of Graduate Programs in the School of Education in addition to her teaching responsibilities.

Dr. Kaplan, chair of the Art Department for six years, this year became the associate dean for graduate studies. He was responsible for securing a number of sizeable grants for the arts and arts promotion.

Dr. Koon, with two colleagues, secured more than $235,000 in federal funds to implement a writing skills program for students in nearly all classes. A former actress, she rewrote the translation of two French plays for performance on campus.

Popular Comedy to be Spring Presentation

"You Can't Take it with You," the Moss Hart-George Kaufman comedy about an eccentric family, will be presented May 28-30 and June 3-6 by the Theatre Arts Department. Tickets will be on sale beginning Monday in the office, CA 175.

The play, the third Hart-Kaufman collaboration, depicts the hilarious antics of Grandpa Vanderhof, who refuses to pay his income taxes, and his unusual family. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. in the Theatre. Admission is $5, general, and $2.50, students and senior citizens.

The department also is preparing a second production for the spring quarter. "Agnes of God," the intriguing story of a 21-year-old nun accused of killing her newborn child, will be presented June 4-6 and 10-13 in the Drama Lab. Tickets, at the same prices, will go on sale May 26. "Agnes of God" replaces the originally scheduled "Fool for Love."

Softball, Bowling Invitations Issued

Faculty and staff are invited to play softball this Saturday or join a bowling league being formed. The Alumni Association is hosting its second annual softball tournament, beginning at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow (May 16) on the fields behind the tennis courts. Family members are welcome too.

Tina Rojtas (Pre-college Outreach Programs) is trying to form a Cal State bowling league and asks anyone interested in participating to call her, Ext. 7737. A questionnaire will be sent to decide time and place.

Serrano Village Project In Chancellor's Office

The low bid for the construction of a multipurpose room at Serrano Village is now being reviewed in the Chancellor's Office, reports William Shum (Facilities Planning). Oakview Construction, Inc., of Yucaipa, was the low bidder at $136,700. The firm currently is building the Bookstore addition.

The multipurpose room and small kitchen, to be built adjacent to the pool complex at Serrano Village, will be financed with a loan from Auxiliary Business Services in the Chancellor's Office. Shum hopes the construction, which will take about five months, can begin by mid-June.

Music Presents Concerts, Senior Recitals, Operetta

With the end of the quarter approaching, music students and groups will be presenting the culmination of their efforts in senior recitals, concerts and a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Patience."

Three music majors will present their recitals, open to the public without charge in the Recital Hall. They are Brent Dunfee, tenor saxophone, at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, May 16; Kraig Williams, alto saxophone, at 3 p.m., Sunday, May 17; and Rick Zahariades, guitar, at 8:15 p.m., Friday, May 22.

The concert by the University-Community Chamber Orchestra, directed by Dr. Richard Saylor, has been changed to 3 p.m., Sunday, June 7 from the original date of May 31. The Jazz Ensemble, under the baton of Dr. Raymond Torres-Santos, will perform at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, June 4. Dr. Carolyn Neff will direct the Wind Ensemble in its concert at 8:15 p.m., Wednesday, June 10. All concerts will be in the Recital Hall. The admission for each is $3, general, and $1.50, students and senior citizens.

The Chamber Singers, under Dr. Loren Filbeck, will present "Patience" June 13-14 as a dinner and scholarship benefit. Information on reservations is available from the Music Department, Ext. 7454. The performance will begin at 6 p.m. in the Commons patio.

Saxophone Quartet In Residence June 1-5

The Nova Saxophone Quartet from the University of Texas at Austin will be in residence here June 1-5, presenting a recital, a lecture-demonstration and appearing with the university's Jazz Ensemble.

A wide variety of styles, from Bach to bebop, will be featured in a recital at 8:15 p.m., Monday, June 1 in the Recital Hall. Admission in advance will be $5, general, $3 students. Tickets are at the Student Life Office, SS 122. Admission at the door will be $6 and $4. An informal lecture-demonstration on the history and repertoire of the saxophone will be given at noon, Thursday, June 4 in the Recital Hall. The event is free.

Richard Lawn, director of jazz studies at the University of Texas at Austin and leader of the group, will be guest artist at the June 4 concert by the Cal State Jazz Ensemble. The Nova Saxophone Quartet also will join in the program. Admission is $3, general, and $1.50, students and senior citizens.

Community Leaders Join University Advisory Board

Seven community leaders, including three alumni, have joined the University Advisory Board, a 13-member group which meets periodically with university administrators to build channels of communication between Cal State and the community. Members serve four-year terms.

The alumni appointed to the board are Nicholas Coussoulis, owner of a Redlands real estate and development company; Lee Kinney, Apple Valley civic leader and last year's outstanding student; and Elyse Traynum, attorney in Riverside and 1982-83 president of the Associated Students.

The other new members are: Larry McMillan, vice president of the Pomona division of General Dynamics; Raul Mercado, president of a San Bernardino auto parts distributing firm; Bruce Varner, San Bernardino attorney; and Margaret Ollerton, a bilingual educator in the Hemet Unified School District.

Variety of Lectures Scheduled on Campus

A German scholar, an American Indian and lecturers from the arts will be giving public lectures on campus in the next several weeks under the sponsorship of the Intellectual Life Committee.

Monday, May 18

Tuesday, May 19

"Recent Excavations on Cyprus" will be discussed at noon, May 19 in VA 110 by Dr. Kenneth Hama, associate curator of antiquities at the J. Paul Getty Museum. Dr. Hama, also adjunct assistant professor of art history at USC, has been actively working on Cyprus with the Princeton Archaeological Expedition since 1982.

Wednesday, May 20

Professor Fritz W. Scharpf, regarded in western Europe as a leading scholar in intergovernmental administration and business and public policy analysis, will be here May 20, rather than the originally scheduled date of May 15, according to Dr. David O. Porter (Business and Public Administration). He will speak first at a noon luncheon in the Panorama Room, which is open to the campus community. Reservations should be made with the School of Business and Public Administration, Ext. 7531. The cost is $5.50. The title of Prof. Scharpf's talk will be "The Political Economy of Macro-Economic Management: A Game--Theoretic Interpretation." At 6 p.m., also in the Panorama Room, he will discuss "An Exchange of European Practices in Macro-Economics." Scharpf, who was director of the International Institute of Management, Science Center Berlin, from about 1972-1983, currently is visiting at the Center for Social Research at Stanford.

Wednesday, May 20

Steven Red Buffalo, spiritual leader of the Yankton Sioux Reservation in South Dakota, will speak from 6 to 8 p.m., May 20 in the Student Union Lounge. He will discuss the traditional Lakota Indian teachings which are in use today, the sacred peace pipe, the sun dance, stone peoples lodges and other beliefs. He will be accompanied by 10 singers and drummers. The Alpaca Club is cosponsoring the program.

Tuesday, May 26

Donald Lagerberg, professor of art at Cal State, Fullerton and a nationally famous traditional figurative artist, will speak at noon, May 26 in VA 110 on "When is an Illustration Not an Illustration and Other Topics of Interest." Among his 50 commissioned portraits are those of Richard Nixon and Patty Hearst, commissioned by the Los Angeles Times. He has had 20 solo art exhibits and his work is included in the Hirshhorn and Guggenheim Museums.

Tuesday, May 26

Dr. Diane Halpern, CSU outstanding professor in 1986, will speak about "Sex Differences in Cognitive Abilities" at 8 p.m., May 26 in the Lower Commons. Dr. Halpern, associate professor of psychology, is also serving as interim dean of undergraduate studies. Dr. Halpern, whose field of research is cognitive psychology and critical thinking, has published two books and a multitude of articles in her field. Her lecture is the last of the Outstanding Professor Series for the year.

Thursday, May 28

Dr. Kathy Higgins, a philosopher who is visiting this year at UC Riverside, will speak on "Aesthetics and Music" at 7 p.m., May 28 in the Sycamore Room. Dr. Higgins has done a great deal of interesting work on music theory, said Dr. Tom Moody (Philosophy).

Tuesday, June 2

Scott Peters, a specialist in infra-red photography as a fine art form, will speak at 1 p.m., June 2 in VA 110. Currently a Fellow at the Fine Arts Work Center in Provincetown, MA, he will discuss "The Fine Art of Infra-Red Photography." Peters has taught at San Jose State University and has exhibited throughout the world.

Community Service

Dr. David Bellis (Public Administration) provided two management training seminars to 25 local nonprofit agency executives and government administrators April 13 and 15, under a contract with San Bernardino County. He also was the keynote speaker to a group of junior and senior high school students from five area schools brought to campus May 1 through Project Upbeat.

Lyn Young (Library) discussed "Automation and Communication: Career Information for Library Technicians" for students in the Library Technology Certificate Program at San Bernardino Valley College April 6.

STEP Program Offered For Incoming Freshmen

The Summer Transition and Enrichment Program (STEP) will be held again this year to help incoming freshmen get a head start on college. Funded by a $92,000 grant from the Chancellor's Office, the five-week residential program will run from July 26 through Aug. 28, said George Gibbs, coordinator.

Participants can earn up to seven units of credit, in addition to becoming acquainted with the university environment. They will receive stipends of $120 to offset lost summer employment. Workshops and classes, led by faculty and staff counselors, will cover English, math, transition counseling, leadership, speech communication, academic advisement, reading skills, cultural enrichment and general orientation.

Although letters have been sent to incoming freshmen, Gibbs invites faculty and staff to refer to him names of incoming freshmen who might benefit from such an experience. Deadline for reservations is June 30. The program is limited to 55 students.

Students Present Papers At Communication Conference

Four communication majors presented research papers at the 14th annual Student Conference in Communication April 24-26 at Cal State, Fresno. A fifth student, Loretta Whitson, was a panel moderator.

The presentors were: Toni Zolezzi, "Mothers Without Custody: Women's Last Closet Issue"; Jackie Scray, "Female Role Portrayals in the Media: Are They Changing?"; Darcel Jamerson, "Patterns of Silence in Male/Female Interpersonal Arguments" and Karen Wright, "Dysfunctional Communication Patterns among Women Victims of Incest Abuse."

Dr. Dorothy Mettee and Dr. Micheal Pounds (Communication) accompanied the 10 students who represented the university.
